INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Ve'ahavta

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Ve'ahavta (the "Charity"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2025, and the statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements, present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Charity as at March 31, 2025, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Charity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Charity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Charity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Charity's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Charity's internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Charity's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Charity to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

VE'AHAVTA
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
FOR THE YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 2025

1. Purpose of the Organization

Ve'ahavta (the "Charity") is a corporation subject to the Canada Not-For-Profit Corporations Act. The Charity provides programming to assist people affected by poverty and homelessness build the confidence and skills needed to prepare for the workforce while engaging the public in meaningful volunteer work. The Charity is a registered charitable organization under the Income Tax Act and is exempt from income taxes.

The Charity had changed it's fiscal year-end from December 31 to March 31. The three months ended March 31, 2024 presented herein was the first fiscal year subsequent to the change.

2. Summary of accounting policies

Basis of accounting

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations (ASNPO). The significant accounting policies are as follows:

Fund accounting

The Charity follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions and reports using fund accounting.

Unrestricted net assets for the Charity's ongoing operations, program and administrative expenses.

Internally restricted net assets consist of the Reserve fund and Charitable fund.

The Charity has established an internally restricted Reserve fund to provide for capital maintenance and protection against times of difficulty or emergency.

The Charitable fund was internally established as long-term capital to enable growth of the Charity's operations into new cities. Investment income generated by the capital may be used at management's discretion and is recognized in unrestricted operations.

Endowment fund includes assets that must be maintained indefinitely to generate investment income for the organization to use.

Revenue Recognition

The Charity follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured. Endowment contributions are recognized as direct increases in the net assets.

Contributions related to capital assets are deferred and amortized into revenue at a rate corresponding with the amortization rate for the related capital assets.

Restricted investment income is recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted investment income is recognized as revenue when earned.

2. Summary of accounting policies (continued)

Government assistance

Government grants and assistance are recognized in revenue over the periods in which the Charity recognizes expenses which the grants and assistance are intended to compensate.

Contributed materials and services

Contribution of materials and services are recognized both as contributions and expenses in the statement of operations when a fair value can be reasonably estimated and when the materials and services are used in the normal course of the Charity's operations and would have otherwise been purchased.

The Charity benefits from the receipt of volunteers time and efforts. Due to the difficulty in establishing the fair value of volunteered time, it is not recognized in the financial statements.

Allocation of expenses

The Charity engages in various charitable and fundraising programs. The costs of each program include the costs of personnel and other expenses that are directly related to providing the program. General support expenses are also incurred that are common to the programs and the administration of the Charity.

The Charity classifies expenses on the statement of operations by function and allocates general support costs based on the proportionate head cost of each function.

Capital assets

Purchased capital assets are recorded at cost less accumulated amortization. Contributed capital assets are recorded at fair value at the date of contribution plus all costs directly attributable to the acquisition. Amortization is provided using a method and rates intended to amortize the cost of assets over their estimated useful lives as follows:

Asset	Method	Rate
Automobiles	declining balance	30%
Furniture and fixtures	declining balance	20%
Office equipment	declining balance	20%
Leasehold improvements	straight-line	lease term

Financial instruments

The Charity recognizes financial instruments when the Charity becomes party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

2. Summary of accounting policies (continued)

Arm's length financial instruments

Financial instruments originated/acquired or issued/assumed in an arm's length transaction ("arm's length financial instruments") are initially recorded at their fair value.

At initial recognition, the Charity may irrevocably elect to subsequently measure any arm's length financial instrument at fair value. The Charity has made such an election during the year.

The Charity subsequently measures investments in equity instruments quoted in an active market and all derivative instruments, except those designated in a qualifying hedging relationship or that linked to, and must be settled by delivery of, unquoted equity instruments of another entity, at fair value. Fair value is determined based on the published prices. Investments in equity instruments not quoted in an active market and derivatives that are linked to, and must be settled by delivery of, unquoted equity instruments of another entity, are subsequently measured at cost less impairment. The Charity has elected to carry all investments at fair value. All other financial assets and liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost.

Transactions costs and financing fees directly attributable to the origination, acquisition, issuance or assumption of financial instruments subsequently measured at fair value are immediately recognized in excess of revenue over expenses. Conversely, transaction costs and financing fees are added to the carrying amount for those financial instruments subsequently measured at cost or amortized cost.

Financial asset impairment

The Charity assesses impairment of all its financial assets measured at cost or amortized cost. The Charity groups assets for impairment testing under certain circumstances. When there is an indication of impairment, the Charity determines whether it has resulted in a significant adverse change in the expected timing or amount of future cash flows during the year.

The Charity reduces the carrying amount of any impaired financial assets to the highest of: the present value of cash flows expected to be generated by holding the assets; the amount that could be realized by selling the assets at the statement of financial position date; and the amount expected to be realized by exercising any rights to collateral held against those assets.

Any impairment, which is not considered temporary, is included in current year excess of revenue over expenses.

The Charity reverses impairment losses on financial assets when there is a decrease in impairment and the decrease can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized. The amount of the reversal is recognized in excess of revenue over expenses in the year the reversal occurs.

2. Summary of accounting policies (continued)

Measurement uncertainty

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian accounting standards for non-for-profit organizations requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the year. Significant items subject to such estimates and assumptions include allowance for doubtful accounts, useful lives of long-lived assets, accrued liabilities, impairment assessments of long-lived assets, the allocation of expenses to the various departments and financial instruments. Actual results could differ from these estimates. These estimates are reviewed periodically and adjustments are made to to excess of revenue over expenses in the year they become known.

Impairment of long-lived assets

The Charity's long-lived assets consist of capital assets. These assets are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used is assessed by comparison of the carrying amount of an asset to future undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured as the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets.

3. Investments

The Charity is entitled to its proportionate share of the Foundations investments. The Charity's endowment assets are included in the investment with the Foundation.

The Charity, as part of its operations, carries a number of financial instruments. It is management's opinion that the Charity is not exposed to significant interest, currency, credit, liquidity or other price risks arising from these financial instruments except as otherwise disclosed.

(i) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. Financial instruments that potentially subject the Charity to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of accounts receivable and investments. The pledges receivable from two parties (2024 - three parties, December 31, 2023 - six parties) represent 84% (2024 - 70%, December 31, 2023 - 46%) of the total accounts receivable balance at year-end. Investments are concentrated with the two organizations disclosed in Note 3. Also, the Charity is exposed to credit risk through cash maintained in one financial institution excess of federally insured limits. The Charity minimizes its credit risk on cash by transacting with reputable financial institutions.

(ii) Interest rate, foreign currency and other price risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument might be adversely affected by a change in the interest rates. Changes in market interest rates may influence the cash flows associated with some financial assets and liabilities, known as cash flow risk, and on the fair value of other financial assets and liabilities, known as price risk.

Foreign currency risk is the risk that fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

Other price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or foreign currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual financial instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting all similar financial instruments trade in the market.

The Charity is exposed to interest rate, foreign currency and other price risk in respect to its investment portfolio. The risk increased with the growth in the portfolio during the year. The Charity manages this risk by investing in a managed, diversified portfolio of securities with Foundation.

(iii) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Charity will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities. The Charity's exposure to liquidity risk is dependent on collection of accounts receivable, purchasing commitments and obligations or raising funds to meet commitments and sustain operations.

Under agreement with the Foundation a notice period is required to liquidate investments that varies between 30 and 90 days following the end of the quarter in which the funds are requested. Liquidity risk has not changed significantly during the year.
